

C I Host Offers All Web Designers Free Web Hosting For Life

Web Designers, Developers Also Get 'Bounty' For New C I Host Clients

For Immediate Release

DALLAS/EWORLDWIRE/June 11, 2004 --- In another "crazy like a fox" marketing move, C I Host, a global leader in Web hosting and Internet infrastructure, is giving every Web designer, developer or software programmer on the planet free Web hosting for life!

"There are more than 600,000 Web designers and developers across the country and we are prepared to host every single one of them free of charge," said Christopher Faulkner, CEO of C I Host. "It gives us a ready-made marketing channel and puts more money in their pockets."

One of the best features of the program is that quality of the hosting package -- a robust service that includes 1,000 MB of space, 20 GB of transfer, and unlimited email accounts that can be offered to employees, family members or others.

In addition, as C I Host resellers, Web designers and developers will receive a healthy bounty for any new hosting clients they refer to C I Host.

"This is another revenue stream for their businesses and another way for us to get the word out about the importance of a C I Host Web hosting package to the success of small and medium sized businesses," Faulkner said. "Of the 40 million small businesses in this country, only 36 percent have Web sites. We hope that we can work with Web designers to boost that number, help those small businesses succeed and increase our customer base."

Becoming a C I Host reseller is a natural for Web designers because they are already in touch with people who are seeking a cutting edge Web site with user-friendly navigational tools, instantly scalable bandwidth and a 100 percent SLA.

Joining C I Host's "FreeForAll" program will give Web designers a fantastic way to expand their portfolio of services and offer competitively priced, reliable and secure web hosting. This is especially good for small businesses that are trying to expand their services without a large outlay of capital.

Web designers, Web developers and software programmers anywhere in the world are eligible for the program. To remain active, one must refer two new clients every six months.

Key features of the "FreeForAll" package are:

- 1 GB of storage space
- 20 GB of bandwidth per month (20 MB per day)
- Unlimited customized email accounts
- 1 full-access FTP account
- Hosting for a www.YourWebDesignSite.com or register a new domain for $15/year (must advertise web design services on it)
- Unlimited support via email and real-time chat
- Free automated Web site builder with 200+ ready-made templates
- No advertising or banners displayed
- Instant sign-up. Accounts are setup within 30 seconds of the order being placed.
- Permanent availability - free sites will always be active on the network for 5 years or until their webmaster wants to take them down
- No startup costs and no monthly charge - no hidden fees or costs.
