VIDEO AVAILABLE: DDSI Appoints Esteemed Industry Leader Erik Hoffer To Its Board Of Directors

For Immediate Release

SEA GIRT, N.J./EWORLDWIRE/May 11, 2005 --- Digital Descriptor Systems, Inc. (DDSI), the industry-leading provider of integrated, enterprise-wide image applications designed for criminal justice organizations, today announced the appointment of Erik Hoffer to its Board of Directors. Hoffer is a widely respected leader, who brings 34 years of deep experience in providing product solutions addressing theft issues and homeland security.

"On behalf of the Board of Directors and Officers of DDSI, we welcome Erik to our management team," said Chairman of the Board, Anthony R. Shupin. "His incredible experience, industry credibility and leadership in developing quality security products will provide our company with a valuable resource as we continue to expand our market focus into the broader arena of Homeland Security."

Erik will serve as President of CGM Applied Security Technologies, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of DDSI. Hoffer started solving cargo theft issues in 1966 in the Army in Vietnam. Since then, he has designed and patented a number of security product solutions that address serious theft issues, such as Counterfeiting, Diversion, Cargo Damage, and Product tampering.

Most recently, Hoffer was president of CGM Security Solutions, Inc., a manufacturer and distributor of indicative security seals as well as indicative damage protection and authentication products.

He currently remains a Director and active member of all educational events for the National Cargo Security Council. Hoffer is a member of the Transportation Consumer Protection Council, the Maritime Security Council, the International Organization of Packaging Professionals, the Logistics Council, the American Trucking Association Loss Prevention Council, and the American Society for Industrial Security. He frequently teaches Cargo Theft at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, ASIS, and at venues across the U.S. He holds an active security clearance.

Hoffer also has a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Psychology from Northeastern University and an associate degree in Transportation and Traffic Management from NYU.
