Acquisition forms the largest digital imaging and graphics agency in the United States.

For Immediate Release

BURBANK, Calif./EWorldWire/Aug. 11, 2005 --- Merisel, Inc. recently announced the acquisition of Los Angeles based Crush Creative, a leading provider of digital imaging solutions for entertainment, retail, auto and other fortune 1000 companies.

"Crush joining the Merisel family of companies is a proactive move to offer our clients a complete national distribution and fulfillment network. As our client's need for global advertising support increases, only a global company of our size will be able to offer the right solution," Guy Claudy, president of Crush Creative.

The acquisition of Crush by Merisel partners Crush with ColorEdge Visual, a New York City-based commercial graphics and imaging center, and Comp24, the nation's largest comp production company.
