For Immediate Release

SUCCASUNNA, N.J./EWORLDWIRE/July 11, 2007 --- Hillsborough, New Jersey, resident Robert Corio is approaching his final year at Seton Hall University feeling well-prepared for the real world. Two key internships - one with GoalQuest, Inc in New York City, and the other this summer at World Internet Marketing Inc., have complemented his majors in marketing and management.

"The business program at Seton Hall University is in the top 100 in the best business school in the country," said Corio. "I've had crucial experience in networking with companies that have high standards for its employees."

The internship at World Internet Marketing, Inc. built on his GoalQuest stint where he decided that he wanted to focus on marketing. Stated Corio, "At GoalQuest, I worked with Seton Hall freshmen, acquainting them with the college environment, using tools such as the eCompass Web site."

"At World Internet Marketing, I've stepped into a vital role on the team, where my productivity and creativity work to grow the company."

Corio's responsibilities at World Internet Marketing Inc. have provided him with direct client support activities. He has delved into press release editing and learned more about what it takes to write to draw readers into releases. "I get tremendous satisfaction in what I am doing with World Internet Marketing Inc. What I do directly benefits the company and aids in furthers a wide range of projects - the value of this internship lies in its exposure to many facets of marketing."

Since 1996, World Internet Marketing Inc. has successfully assisted other companies in a variety of ways - initially with Web presence development and writing services, to growing into a full newswire service with distributions of news to media around the globe. The thriving company has maintained its roots in Succasunna, N.J., and has had as many as 14 interns most recently during the summer of 2006 from schools such as Tufts, Vassar, Penn State, University of Connecticut and Seton Hall. Students come from both four-year and two-year programs; some begin with only a year of college behind them, while others are fulfilling their final graduation requirements. All learn from and directly contribute to the growth of the business in the marketing industry, while the company gains the talents and skills, and current knowledge of students in disciplines ranging from technology to marketing and graphic design.
