LOS ANGELES/EWORLDWIRE/June 25, 2008 --- The Accolade Competition Best of Show Award and Honorable Mention are attracting attention to Brad Renfro and Film Director Dempsey Tillman's work on short film, Collector. On June 26, Philadelphia Independent Film Festival attendees will be screening Tillman's film, followed this summer by screenings at the Rhode Island Film Festival and at the Action on Film Festival in Pasadena. Collector features exceptional performances by Brad Renfro and Matthew Boylan.

"We all worked hard to create a short film that could pull the viewer into our world on the very first frame," said Tillman. "It's nothing short of awesome to have received such a noteworthy award from the Accolade Competition."

In winning an Accolade, Dempsey Tillman joins the ranks of other high-profile winners of the internationally respected award which recognizes film, television and videography professionals. The award recipients are candidates who have demonstrated exceptional achievement in craft and creativity, and are those who produce stand-out entertainment or who contribute to profound social change. Entries are judged by highly qualified professionals in the film and television industry.

Thomas Baker, Ph.D., who chairs The Accolade, had this to say about the latest winners, "The Accolade is not an easy award to win. Entries are received from around the world. The Accolade helps set the standard for craft and creativity. The judges were pleased with the exceptionally high quality of entries."

The goal of The Accolade is to help winners achieve the recognition they deserve. Information about the Accolade and a list of recent winners can be found at '<http://www.theacolade.net>'.
