

Information Security Firm MicroSolved Responds to Tough Economic Climate

A sluggish economy prompts MicroSolved Inc., an information security firm, to offer Advance Licenses for HoneyPoint Product with 0 percent financing.

For Immediate Release

COLUMBUS, Ohio/EWORLDWIRE/April 14, 2009 --- MicroSolved Inc. (<http://www.microsolved.com/>), an information security firm, is aiming to solve budget constraints as the economy remains sluggish. The company's creative way to provide relief to clients is to offer a 25 percent discount on the HoneyPoint Security Server (HPSS) for new customers during April.

In addition, a 0 percent financing option to pay in monthly payments over the life of the support agreement is available for up to three years.

New customers who purchase HPSS by the end of April will also receive three free licenses for the new HoneyBee tool to combat network sniffers once it is released.

"For less than $150 per month, you can achieve incredible security visibility, additional protections against malware and the insider threat," said Brent Huston, CEO and Security Visionary for MicroSolved. "You can enjoy the power of HoneyPoint's 'deploy and forget' approach and reduce the workload of your security team."

The revolutionary software, HoneyPoint Personal Edition, serves up 'fake' services on systems. These services then lie in wait for attackers and malware to probe them. When someone, or something, does interact with the service, all transactions are recorded, including their source IP address and timeline. Users are then alerted to the activity and can take defensive actions as needed.

Huston developed HoneyPoint Security Server three years ago, motivated by a keen desire to break the attacker cycle. Huston concludes, "Attackers like to scan for security holes. HoneyPoint lies in wait and traps the attacker in the act."

Purchase orders must be received by April 30, 2009 to qualify for this special offer.
